Evaluation

This match raises a credible level of concern from an integrity perspective due to the strong betting for Tombense FC MG to receive most of the cards in this match. Based on the information available, it is possible that Tombense FC MG were involved in the potential manipulation of the match.

Summary of Irregular Betting Activity

Operator	Market	Betting for	Turnover	Bookmaker Losses
Betano	Team with Most Cards	Tombense FC MG	€5,980	-€13,660

1. Sportradar Integrity Services received reports from Brazilian facing operator, Betano, outlining that unusually high stakes had been placed, approximately six hours prior to kick-off, for Tombense FC MG to receive the majority of the cards in this match. Indeed, the table above shows the significant amount of turnover wagered for this outcome and the overall bookmaker losses for this selection.
2. Betano indicated that the total amount of bets for this outcome was vastly greater than the average typically received on similar events and markets. Furthermore, following this betting activity, Betano opted to remove their "Team with Most Cards" market for this fixture, clearly indicating the targeted nature of the betting activity.
3. Betting for this outcome occurred in the pre-match markets and took place mainly from Brazilian accounts. Betano indicated that the majority of these accounts were from the same region as the referee of the event, which caused integrity concerns about the betting activity witnessed in the aforementioned cards market.
4. Prior to this match, although referee Jefferson Ferreira de Moraes had an average of 4.75 cards per match and while Tombense FC MG were the team that received most of the cards in three of their six 2023 Brasileiro Serie B matches, they had received less cards than their opponents in two of the other three fixtures, so the strength of the betting cannot be mitigated by any logical sporting factors and raised credible concerns after review.

Background Check

In terms of suspicious match history, Tombense FC MG have been involved in one Match Intelligence Summary, and they have been implicated in the manipulation of the match on that occasion. The occasion where Tombense FC MG were the implicated team was on 05/11/2022 in a Brasileiro, Serie B match against Criciuma EC SC, where there was strong pre-match betting for Tombense FC MG to lose the first half, which duly occurred (HT 1:0).
