June 30, 2009

Dear Senator Sarney,

My name is Matthew Murray and I am an Associate Lecturer at Cardiff University in Wales, UK. I am writing to you today in my capacity as the panel organizer for the “Basic Income – Approaches, Experiments and Developments around the World” panel at the 2009 International Political Science Association (IPSA) World Congress. The theme of this year’s conference is “Global Discontent? Dilemmas of Change.” The IPSA 2009 World Congress is scheduled to take place from July 12th through July 16th in Santiago, Chile. The panel itself is scheduled to take place July 14th at 11am. You will note this date is different from the details given on preliminary program. The panel has been moved specifically to accommodate the participation of Sen. Suplicy. This panel (MT05 298) will survey various conceptions and applications of basic income from around the world. It is my pleasure as panel organizer to extend an official invitation for Senator Eduardo Matarazzo Suplicy to discuss the application of basic income systems in Brazil.

The IPSA World Congress is the foremost international conference for the political science community. It attracts tens of thousands of academics, political organizers, governmental administrators and law makers from all corners of the globe. This conference will provide a unique and influential platform on which to present the application of basic income systems to a diverse international audience.

Sen. Suplicy has an intimate knowledge of the application of basic income in Brazil and excellent presentation skills. These attributes make him an ideal candidate for our panel. Due to the commitment of the IPSA in focussing funding to individuals from under-privileged backgrounds and under-developed nations, financial assistance to attend this event will not be available to Sen. Suplicy. We would like you, in your capacity as the Brazilian Senate President, to authorize him to attend this conference and share the innovative work of the Brazilian legislature with the political science community.

Sincerely,

Mr. Matthew Murray, MsC Econ
