Dear Mrs. Thronicke

We are delighted to invite you to participate in an upcoming Conference that the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP) is organizing, titled "The Future of Global Trade." The Conference will take place in Singapore at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (LKYSPP) National University of Singapore from September 14 – 16. An autonomous, postgraduate school of the National University of Singapore, the top academic institution in Asia and ranked among the top 10 universities globally, LKYSPP's vision is to transform the world through good governance and leadership excellence.

Conference Objectives

Amidst increased uncertainties and complexities in the geopolitical and macroeconomic environments, the inexorable trend towards globalisation has been slowing over the past few years. As governments and industry players seek to adapt and recalibrate their economic development and business plans, they will also have to grapple with emerging trends and policy challenges in the new digital economy. This Conference will bring together global policymakers to discuss the opportunities and challenges for the future of global trade. It aims to provide a platform for leaders from key global markets to exchange views on how to craft policies to maximise the benefits of global and digital trade, and hear perspectives from Singapore, a well-established international hub and widely recognised as a bridge between East and West. The Conference will feature keynote addresses, panel discussions and group reflections, facilitated by the lead faculty. It will also include a site visit to the Milken Asia Summit for a specially-curated programme, organised in partnership with the Milken Institute, a nonprofit, nonpartisan think tank focused on accelerating measurable progress on global issues. On the evening of September 14, participants are invited to SHEIN's corporate reception to meet and interact with SHEIN senior management as well as other SHEIN guests such as SHEIN X designers, industry and Singapore government stakeholders. An indicative programme is attached for your reference.

Conference-Related Support

We will be pleased to provide the following arrangements for participants, with the kind sponsorship of SHEIN:

- Return business class flights
- Hotel accommodation (4 nights: September 13, 14, 15, 16) (Additional costs will be borne by the participants if you wish to stay longer / arrive earlier*)
- Local ground transport to the Conference and between event venues
- Meals (during the conference)

We look forward to your participation and valuable contributions in the Conference. Please kindly reply to this invitation by 23 August.

For any questions, please reach out to the LKYSPP team at lkyspp.sgcorp@nus.edu.sg.

Kind regards,

Annex – Administrative DetailsIndicative Programme

Day 0 – 13 Sep (Wed)

Time	Event
Whole Day	Arrival of Participants Hotel Check-In

Day 1 – 14 Sep (Thu)

Time	Event
0900 – 0930	Programme Opening
0930 – 1030	Keynote Address
1030 – 1100	AM Break
1100 – 1230	Opening Panel: Trends in Global Trade Rising geopolitical tensions and emerging global challenges have pushed global trade into a period of significant flux. With the merits of globalisation coming under challenge, would increased adoption of protectionist approaches by countries fuel uncertainties for global economic growth and business development? This panel will discuss how global trade flows are evolving against this backdrop, and how governments and businesses can navigate the increasingly complex global trade landscape.
1230 – 1330	Lunch
1330 – 1500	Panel 1: Logistics and Supply Chain Management Nearshoring and supply chain diversification are amongst the strategies employed by global corporations as they seek to navigate the rise of geopolitical tensions and new disruptions to global trade. As supply chains are re-configured, these present new opportunities but also challenges. This panel will discuss how global corporations are adapting their approaches to logistics and supply chain management in the current environment.
1500 – 1530	PM Break
1530 – 1700	Site Visit to Economic Development Board (EDB) Including dialogue with senior leadership of EDB (TBC)
1800 – 2100	SHEIN Singapore Reception at Clifford Pier, Fullerton Bay Hotel Cocktails and canapes will be served

Day 2 – 15 Sep (Fri)

Time	Event
0900 – 1200	Milken Roundtable Sessions 1. Panel: Rise of Regionalisation 2. Roundtables (choose 1 of 2 to attend) - Spotlight on Latin America - Asia's relations with the rest of the world
1200 – 1330	AM Break
1330 – 1500	Panel 2: Digital Trade and E-Commerce The rise of e-commerce is an inevitable trend in global trade and logistics. E-commerce has drastically reduced business costs and improved consumer access to goods and services, but also posed new challenges for governments as they consider how to regulate this rapidly-growing sector. This panel will explore what digital trade should look like in the new global economy, and discuss policy trade-offs that global governments need to consider.

1500 – 1530	PM Break
1530 – 1700	Panel 3: Cross-Border Data Flows The global movement of data across borders is becoming increasingly essential to trade, innovation, and economic growth. To manage associated risks such as privacy and national security, however, many countries are pursuing regulations aimed at constraining cross-border data flows. This panel will discuss how governments can balance competing priorities to support continued growth and development of the digital economy while ensuring privacy and security.

Day 3 – 16 Sep (Sat)

Time	Event
0930 – 1030	Closing Panel: The Future of Global Trade
1030 – 1100	AM Break
1100 – 1230	Group Discussion In this session, participants will spend time reflecting on key issues discussed across the conference sessions. Focus will be on the policy impact of the global trade trends examined, and the development of possible policy recommendations to address these issues.
